

Women's Connect

Peer Support Group Program

Connecting women and non-binary people with lived experience of cancer.

The Women's Connect peer groups give women and non-binary people across Queensland the opportunity to connect with others—in-person or online—who understand what it's like to live with cancer.

It's a welcoming platform designed to contribute shared experiences in an inclusive and caring space. Each group is co-facilitated by a health professional and a peer with lived experience of cancer.

This program is offered at no cost and welcomes people from all backgrounds.
